

COUNTY OF ÁGUEDA

Águeda is a city located in the center of Portugal, crossed by a river with the same name. With around 48,000 inhabitants spread over its 335 km², the city has always been known for its industry and prosperous businesses, especially by the metallurgical industry. The production of bicycles used to be very important to the city, which made it known as the city of the bike until the colorful umbrellas took over the narrow streets of downtown, as an integral part of the festival "AgitÁgueda - Art Festival". However, the city has much more to offer to those who visit, such as gastronomy, regional wines, landscapes, walking routes, bird watching, and never forgetting that Águeda is part of the itinerary of the paths of Fátima and Santiago.
